

FEBRUARY LIBRARY NOTES

Join us for a viewing of the Award-Winning Documentary

CHASING ICE

Hosted by the North Fork Audubon Society
Sunday, February 9, 2pm

Produced by environmental photographer, James Balog using time-lapse cameras. See how the world's glaciers are changing at a breathtaking rate. The impact of climate changes on our local environment, including birds and other wildlife, as well as responsible stewardship of our planet will be discussed.

We hope you'll enjoy all the programs we have scheduled for you this month. February on the East End tends to be quiet so we have tried to provide a lot of different and interesting things to do here for every member of our Floyd Memorial family. And please, if you haven't taken the chance yet, remember our Annual Appeal. You may donate online at www.floydmemoriallibrary.org

BASICALLY BAROQUE Saturday, February 15 3pm

Sunday
February 16
3pm

Thanks to the Friends of the Library for sponsoring these programs.

A group of friends, an interesting book, and free-flowing discussion...sounds like the ingredients for a wonderful experience. Let us help you get started. Each bag has 5 copies of the same book, a list of possible discussion questions, an author biography, and tips on running a book discussion. We can get more copies, if needed, as well as different formats—audio CDs, large print, eBook downloads, etc.

So grab some friends, pick a date, prepare some refreshments, and get started on some lively conversation!

Good Luck and Happy Reading!
